

CLASS OF 1913 PLANT IVY

Interesting Exercises Held at High School This Afternoon by Graduating Class

Class day was observed this Friday afternoon by the members of 1913 class, Portsmouth high school with appropriate exercises. At 2 o'clock the members assembled in front of the school and President Norman E. Rand planted the ivy, each member of the class taking part. Following this interesting ceremony, the school was entrusted to the care of President Leman T. Pope, 3rd, of the class of 1914. The Class History, Class Prophecy, and Class Will were read. Following the exercises the students adjourned to the school building where light refreshments were served.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1913

By Philip Sanderson

On the eleventh of September 1909, a bright and healthy group of boys and girls, numbering in the vicinity of one hundred and twenty-five, the largest entering class on record, took by storm the doors of the Portsmouth High School. They were all in eager pursuit of higher learning, to attain which, fifty-three have continued their efforts until this day. Now that two are to graduate as the second largest graduating class, it seems only fitting that a history of our four years in high school should be compiled. We were many then in number and in enthusiasm; our ranks have been thinned somewhat in the course of four years but the spirit of united effort for the success of high school activities social and athletic has steadily increased.

As is the general rule, the freshman year was the least eventful. The fact that we organized a class basketball team with Fred Griffin for captain and Bernard Mills for manager seems noteworthy. A game was played with the sophomores and as it was played without faculty permission the members attended a lengthy meeting in the office of the principal. As a result, it was declared illegal, to organize a team, not coming within the faculty's requirements, and the team was immediately disbanded. The mathematics class in room 4 recalls the only other eventful times of our first year. On the whole there seemed a general advancement in the development of the students. Many of the boys thought that the being a freshman necessitated their beginning to wear long trousers, and the girls lengthened their dresses somewhat.

Sophomore year came and as soon as anyone dared to call a meeting and act as chairman of the meeting, we formally organized. For officers we elected Stewart Humphreys president, Frances Bates vice president, Marion Craig secretary, Fred Griffin treasurer. Next, we chose our class colors, which are blue and gold and then selected and ordered our class pins. The class had a football team with Stewart Humphreys for captain, and Bernard Mills for manager. It finished second in the series and one of its games was played by moonlight. It was in this year that the interclass basketball was established. 1912 made a creditable showing winning their series from 1914 in an overtime game. Phil Sanderson was captain, while Norman Rand managed the team successfully. At these games which were played on Friday afternoons, the girls attended

COUNTY TRYING TO COLLECT FOR CLARK'S BOARD

Who Will Settle Seems to Be a Question Just at Present.

The fact that Willie Clark refused to give up $2.18 for a poll tax for 1911 has started something at city hall which may end in the courts.

Tax Collector Page stopped Willie's liberty about six weeks ago when he picked him up on the street and invited him to take a room at the county jail. Willie said if that suited Page it certainly was agreeable to him and he registered with Landgra Shaw, where he has been living on the best the house affords ever since.

The county commissioners thought it about time somebody passed over Willie's board money and sent a bill for $2.50 to the city. Mayor Badger took a look at the document and said, "You have got to show me." He could not see why the city should pass $2.50 for Willie's vacation and turned the bill over to City Solicitor Harry W. Peyer.

Harry got right in to the law and could find nothing that convinced him where the city should give up. He called on the active collector, Mr. Page, and informed him that he would have to dig in his jeans for the $2.50 and hand it over to the county for Clark's entertainment. Walter said, "Nothing doing."

Attorney Peyer told him that when the warrant was delivered to him to collect the city was done and any expense after that he must make it good. Again Walter reneged in strong terms.

In the meanwhile Clark's board bill is advancing with the high cost of living and the question is, "Who is going to pay it?"

The solicitor is satisfied to take it to court and make a test case of it.

The usual decoration seen on Flag Day on the lawn at the residence of James H. Dow will be missed this year owing to his illness which confines him to the Portsmouth Hospital, but his devotion to the flag does not wane, and the stars and stripes will decorate the sick room and contribute to his pleasure on Flag Day.

Chief Engineer William F. Woods of the Portsmouth fire department who has been notified by the navy department that workmen at the navy yard will not be permitted to leave important work to answer fire alarms in this city, will be granted an interview upon the situation by Secretary Josephus Daniels of the navy department who will visit the navy yard during the coming week. Mr. Woods has been informed that Secretary Daniels will be in Boston Saturday to speak at the Flag Day exercises at Boston Lodge of Elks, and that on Monday or Tuesday he will make his first official visit to and inspection of the Portsmouth navy yard. When the secretary arrives in this city, Chief Woods will request him to revoke the order recently issued by the naval administration.

Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels will arrive at the Navy Yard on Tuesday next accompanied by his aide, Commander Palmer; Mrs. Daniels and his brother. He will make the trip from Boston on the U. S. S. Dolphin and will devote the entire day in making thorough inspection of the yard. At 7 o'clock in the evening he will sit down to a banquet at the Rockingham as the guest of the Portsmouth Board of Trade and Merchants Exchange. He will probably make a tour of the city on Wednesday morning. It is expected that U. S. Senator Henry F. Hollis and Congressman Eugene E. Reed will be present with a possibility that some of the Maine delegation will also be here.

MOROS DEFEATED IN STRONGHOLD BY AMERICANS

Manila, June 12.—The entrenchment of the rebellious Moros under the Sultan of Jolo at Davao were taken by the American forces today after a fierce battle in which the American casualties were six killed and twelve wounded.

The killed were two privates of Company M, Eighth United States Infantry; three members of the Fifty-Fifth Company of scouts, and one member of the Twenty-Ninth Company of scouts. Lieutenant Edwin H. Hackley was wounded in the leg. The casualties were regarded as few in view of the stubborn resistance which the Moros made to the American advance. The attacking forces had been made unusually strong as a precaution, there being in addition to the company of regular infantry, a troop of cavalry, seven companies of scouts, two companies of constabulary, a battery of four mountain guns and a machine gun platoon. The main position of the Moros was taken. Although their main line still occupied by the Moros, the mountain zone will be in a position to shell it easily.

Brigadier General Pershing, commander of the Department of Mindanao, who led the forces, declares he will continue operations in Jolo until all the tribesmen's guns have been taken and the island is wholly pacified.

Complete disarmament of the semi-civilized tribes in the southern Philippines as a final step toward permanent peace in the archipelago is the object of the attack upon the Moros which Brigadier General Pershing began today. The American officer carefully laid his plans months ago for his movement. In the north disarmament has been effected peacefully and it had been hoped that through the good offices of the sultan of Jolo the savage Mohammedan tribes in the Jolo group and in Mindanao might likewise be induced to give up their weapons. Negotiations were carried on with the various divisions, with the active sympathy and support of the sultan of Jolo, but recent advances made it appear that the disarmament policy could be carried out only by force.

General Pershing, who has been given a free hand in the conduct of his campaign, will reestablish the authority of the United States Government in the southern Philippines. A forward movement of the kind made today was expected some time ago, but the officials are satisfied that General Pershing postponed his advance deliberately in order to accumulate a sufficient force of native and American soldiers to overwhelm the opposition and thereby reduce to a minimum the casualties on both sides.

A degree of suspicion prevails in certain quarters as to the probable effect of disarmament as a means of establishing a permanent peace. It was suggested today that through their pearl fisheries and other valuable resources the natives in the Jolo group are actually and would force it. The difficulty in regarding the advance as a step they have passed with improved bearings seemed from nearby forces, thereby making them more formidable than ever.

JUDGE BINGHAM TAKES OATH

New Hampshire Man Now Member of First United States Circuit by Appointment from President Wilson—Ceremony Holds Up Shoe Machinery Trial.

Boston, June 12. Judge George Hutchins Bingham of Manchester, N. H., who was appointed by President Wilson to the First United States Circuit Court bench, received the oath of office today in the room used for the sittings of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. On the bench were Circuit Judges Putnam and Dodge and District Judges Brown, Aldrich, Hale and Morton. Judge Bingham was seated at a table directly in front of the bench. The arrangements for the ceremony were made under the direction of Judge Putnam. It was necessary to delay the opening of the session for the trial of the United Shoe Machinery Company case about ten minutes.

Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals read Judge Bingham's nomination from President Wilson, after which the clerk administered the oath of office in the name of Judge Putnam. Judge Bingham then signed the oath, which was attested and endorsed by the clerk of the court. The court withdrew to the lobby and received the new member. His robe was placed upon him, and he was then shown his offices, until recently occupied by United States Senator C. C. Jones. Judge Bingham then joined Judge Morton and marched to the District Court room and they sat upon the bench together. After a few minutes were disposed of by Judge Morton, Judge Bingham returned to his own rooms in the company of his wife and Judge Hale and Aldrich.

In view of the trial of the United Shoe Machinery Company case, it is unlikely that the new judge will be called upon to sit in the court until June 19 when he will join Judge Putnam and one district court judge in the hearing of the arguments upon the appeals in the Butler stores matter.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Don't Want Firemen's Parade
Editor Herald:

Through the columns of your paper I would like to ask the members of the city council why there is such a feeling among firemen that every time they want money they appeal to the city government and they think they must have it.

I am speaking about the proposed firemen's parade. If I remember right these firemen were going to celebrate without calling on the city for money. Now they want $500. With the likely advance in the tax rate I do not see the way clear to deal out the city's money for the benefit of a few who want to get a uniform on and go on parade.

A firemen's parade would be a joke under the present city ordinance which was changed when the city government cut out the appropriation for this affair. As the ordinance now reads, a member of the department cannot be compelled to turn out and there are over half of them who say they will not parade. Before the chief engineer could order the men to turn out on parade day, I am a member of the department and while I am not opposed to any good thing for the firemen, I do object to taking the expenses from the city treasury with such a debt on our hands. It would be more to the credit of the city government, if it cares to spend money on the fire department to let it go toward the erection of a much-needed central fire station.

Let the men finance the affair themselves. I am ready to do my part, and know of others who will do likewise. When the men stop to consider the last appropriation made for improvements in the street and other departments I cannot see where the council can with a clear conscience vote away more of the taxpayers' money.

KINDERGARTEN CHILDREN IN PLAY FESTIVALS

Very Pretty Program at Playground --Children Do Excellent Work.

The children of the kindergartens, the Cabot, Farragut, Manning and Spaulding schools, united in a Play Festival at the playground on Thursday afternoon and before a large audience gave an outdoor performance which was both a credit to the teachers and the scholars.

The little ones all attractively attired were in their best spirit and they entered into the games and dances with a zeal that was refreshing.

The program was an attractive one, and it gave the teachers a most excellent opportunity to show what the little folks can do under proper training. Practically all of the features were the same as in the regular school work, and all united in singing their songs.

The festival was held in front of the baseball bleachers where the audience was seated.

It was given under the direction of Miss Colburn, principal of kindergartens, and the different teachers in the kindergartens.

The program was as follows:
March Songs, Robin Redbreast, Bluebird, Kindergartens (united), Merry-Go-Round Wheel and Horses

Cabot Street Kindergarten, Soldier Boy ..... Farragut Kindergarten, Shipping.... Kindergartens (united), Ring Game, Spaulding Kindergarten, Pigeons, Manning St. Kindergarten, Songs Little Boy's Walk, Swing Game, Kindergartens (united), Seasons, Spring, Jumping rope, Flying Kites, Rolling Hoops, Summer, Swimming, Boating, Autumn, Nutting, Autumn leaves, Winter, Skating, Snow Flakes, Snow-Man, Cabot St. Kindergarten, Rhythm Game, Trotting, Running, High stepping horses, Skipping, Cooching, Walking, Flying, Spaulding Kindergarten, Sunshine Mince, Farragut Kindergarten

SERVIA AND BULGARIA AGREE TO ARBITRATE

London, June 12.—The Serbian and Bulgarian governments have both agreed to accept Russian arbitration in their dispute over the territory acquired during the Balkan War.

The Serbian Government today sent a note to the Bulgarian Government proposing that three-fourths of the armies of Bulgaria and Serbia should be mobilized, in order to relieve the existing tension and to facilitate settlement of the differences between the two Governments.

With the graduation of the "little white father of all the Slavs" accepted after he had warned the Balkan States of wrath to come and beseeched them to avoid fratricidal war, and with France keeping the war chest closed tightly, the chances of preserving peace among the Allies is improving. But the situation is still critical. The Powers may join the Russian emperor in his demand that the Allies demobilize while Russia arbitrates, but one of the chief dangers of Russian arbitration lies in the possibility that it may precipitate another European crisis unless it is preceded by an Austro-Russian understanding. The Powers are expected to intervene in the Serbian and Bulgarian capitals with a demand for demobilization, and since the opposition at Sofia urges immediate action the question of war or peace might be decided by the end of the week.

A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says: "The Serbian Minister to Bulgaria has left here for Sofia with final instructions which he is to present to the Bulgarian Government. If Bulgaria delays a definite answer to the request for an early meeting of the plenipotentiaries of the Allies, the Minister is instructed to leave Sofia. General Putnik, chief of the general staff of the Serbian Army, has left to resume command at Uskup. It is currently reported that he has received instructions from the Government to repudiate the ultimatum given any attack by the Bulgarians and any attempt on their part to cross the Serbian line of demarcation."

Cholera Attacks Bulgarian Troops
A Sabana despatch says that cholera on an extensive scale has broken out among the Bulgarian troops at Serres and Demotitsa. The civilian population at Serres is also affected. The Greeks are taking precautions to prevent the disease from spreading to their territories.

PLAN TOUR OF NAVY YARDS

Members of the house committee on naval affairs are planning a trip of inspection of the navy yards of the Atlantic coast, which will be extended to take in the Mare Island and Bremerton yards on the Pacific if time permits. The plans have not been definitely made, but if it can be arranged the committee will probably spend most of July and August visiting yards at Norfolk, Philadelphia, New York, Portsmouth and Boston.

Major Clarence B. Hoyt went to Rochester today by invitation of Gov. Parker to witness the review of the state troops.

Your Brain Is a Battery

Its thoughts are the sparks that set Success in motion.

The simplest form of battery requires three factors to make the electric spark—(zinc, copper and an acid).

The human brain also requires three vital elements to put forth thought—WATER, ALBUMEN AND PHOSPHATE OF POTASH.

In the Brain, as in the Battery, let a single element become weakened from yesterday's use and lessened activity follows. Therefore, in order to keep a good, working brain, or add to its power, one absolutely must use food which contains albumen and Phosphate of Potash.

Why not do a bit of thinking now?

Water and albumen exist plentifully in every-day food, but Phosphate of Potash is often lacking.

That missing element exists freely in the outer coating of wheat and barley, but the miller of white bread flour throws it out because it makes his flour brown instead of white.

Grape-Nuts

made of choice wheat and malted barley, retains the rich brain-building Phosphate of Potash required by Nature for supporting bright brains and active minds.

Pure! Wholesome! Appetizing! This food is partly pre-digested and quickly absorbed. A morning dish with cream provides FORCE for accomplishment that many a man has come to know and appreciate.

Common Sense goes a long way toward making Success.

ERRORS AGAIN LOSE A GAME FOR Y. M. C. A.

Elks Hold Place at Head of League--
Sorette's Pitching a Big Addition for Elks.

The Y. M. C. A. dropped another game on Thursday evening in which errors figured largely in the victory. In fact, if it had not been for a badly misjudged ball by Timmons and error by Remick, the Elks would not have scored at all, although they did hit the ball well in spots, but after our portmanteaus had been given to retire the side.

The Elks presented a fast team, with Sorette who did such good work last year, in the box. Sorette started with the Bangor team, but came back to Exeter this week and his presence on the team is of big help, for it was the only weak spot. He has greatly improved over last year, and appears to have much more speed, and last evening he only allowed two hits, both made by Estebrook. He was saved one or two more by fast fielding by Sanfacon, Thompson and Cragen.

Swaney of the Elks, has gone to Bangor to play and Davis covered first and Thompson went to right. DeRothen was catching and he caught his usual good game.

The Y. M. C. A. started with Wright of the high school catching, Ralph Brackett being late. This is due the fact that he does not get out of recreation at Exeter Academy until six o'clock and in an automobile he breaks the speed limit to get here Wright throwing to bases was poor and he allowed Davis to steal both second and third, but after Ralph arrived Cragen was the only man to get away, with a steal, and the decision was close.

Remick with a lame arm, started to pitch and he apparently has simple tossing them up. He gave way to Morris in the third, and he pitched a good game allowing but two hits and those after the side should have been easily retired. Remick went to first and he made two costly errors dropping two easy balls. Timmons other than the misjudgment of Hughes drive which he should have had, played a fast fielding game, getting three catches, one well over in left field. Morris played a good fielding game and Mose Howard did good work. The Young Men showed a weakness at the bat and in base running, for Timmons should have scored in the third. In the fourth with men on second and third, and no out, there was nothing doing.

The Elks scored twice in the first inning, Hughes hitting to center that Timmons came in on and misjudged and it went over his head, and Hughes circled the bases, Davis singled, stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch. They scored again in the fifth, on a single and two errors.

The Game in Detail,
FIRST INNING

The Elks were up. Hanson drew a pass, stole second, but slid over and was tagged. Hughes hit to center that proved to be good for a home run, through Timmons misjudging the ball.

Davis singled and stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch. Sanfacon hit to left center that Timmons got after a long run. DeRothen walked. Sheehan hit between third and short that Estebrook made a fine try at breaking it, and Cragen filed to Timmons.

Wright filed to Sanfacon. Estebrook singled, Morris hit a liner into Sanfacon's hands and he doubled Estebrook at first.

Score, Elks 2, Y. M. C. A. 0.

SECOND INNING

Thompson struck out, Sorette hit to M. Howard and was out, Hanson singled, Hughes followed with another over second, Hanson being held at third. Hughes was caught off bases and while being run down, Hanson started to score, but returned to third and Morris caught him to C. Brackett on a sharp throw.

Mose Howard and Remick fanned and Leary was thrown out by Sorette.

THIRD INNING

Morris took Remick's place pitching. Davis was thrown out by M. Howard. Sanfacon was safe on Howard's error. DeRothen hit to M. Howard who made a perfect throw, but Remick muffed it. Sheehan filed to Morris and Cragen to Bill Howard.

Timmons hit to Sheehan who threw wild to first and Timmons landed on second. He advanced to third on C. Brackett's sacrifice. Sorette to Davis W. Howard filed to right that Thompson made a pretty catch of and Timmons had plenty of time to score on the throw in but remained anchored. R. Brackett was thrown out by Sheehan.

FOURTH INNING

Thompson filed to Timmons, Sorette fanned and Hanson popped a fly to Morris.

Estebrook opened with a single and went to second on Davis muffed of Sorette's throw. Morris filed to Hanson and he dropped it, a double steal placed them on third and second. M. Howard fanned, Remick filed to right that Sanfacon made a pretty catch of and Leary fanned.

FIFTH INNING

Hughes fanned, Davis hit to Estebrook who made a perfect throw but Remick made a rank muff. Sanfacon singled, DeRothen was thrown out by Morris. Sheehan got a pass and Cragen singled to center and scored Davis, Ralph Brackett threw way over Howard's head at second and DeRothen and Sheehan scored. Morris blocking what looked like a perfect throw to the plate to get Sheehan. Cragen stole third and Thompson was out, Morris to Remick.

Timmons hit a liner to Hughes, C. Brackett filed to Cragen and W. Howard to Davis.

WORLD'S SWIMMING RECORDS

Duke Kahanamoku of Honolulu Creates New Figures for 100 and 200 Yards.

Honolulu, June 12.—In a swimming meet here today under Amateur Athletic Union rules, Duke Kahanamoku, the world's champion, swam a hundred yards in 55 1-5 seconds and 220 yards in 2 minutes 34 2-5 seconds. According to the announcement of officials in charge of the contests the performance constituted new world's records.

Miss Ruth Stacker, aged nineteen, covered 50 yards in 31 seconds. This was claimed as a new record for a woman swimmer.

PLANS FOR LABOR TEMPLE

London, June 12.—London is soon to have one of the finest labor temples in the world. Plans were formally approved to day for the new central labor union hall to be erected here at a cost of nearly one million. The building will have offices to be used as the general headquarters of the various general labor bodies, and will also contain a large auditorium capable of seating 4,000 persons. All the important conventions and congresses of the United Kingdom will be held at the new auditorium.

WHERE IS YOUR FAVORITE LOCATION FOR THE NEW ARMORY BUILDING?

Since the appropriation for the new armory has been allowed by the legislature, there appears to be much discussion as to where the home of the militia will be located. To get the idea of the most favorable site, the HERALD invites the people to vote on the matter and will print each day the following coupon, which can be filled out and sent to the City Editor. In due time the result will be published.

Fill out the following blank and send to The Herald.

LATEST DANCE INVENTED

"Hitchie-Coo" Is Described as Combination of the "One Step" and "Tango" With Kick as Finale.
Atlantic City, N. J., June 12.—The "Hitchie-Coo" a combination of the "one step" and "Tango" with a graceful kick as the final feature of each set, was introduced as the latest dance creation at the annual convention of the International Dancing Masters' Association in session here. F. W. Scott of Michigan, the oldest member in attendance, declared that "tricks that necessitate the clinch hug should be prohibited by legislation. There is nothing bad about the new dances if they are danced correctly but they seldom are."

ed guilty and he was held for the October term of court in the sum of $200. In default of bail he was committed to jail.

Joseph Roberts was charged with being a common vagrant and he was sent to the County Farm for six months.

A session of the Juvenile Court was afterwards held in the Juvenile Court room.

RAILROAD NOTES

Miss Hear who handles all the telegraphing of the Western Union and the Boston & Maine railroad at Somersworth is not only efficient with the key but knows a thing or two about trout fishing. During her vacation which she is passing at Silver Lake, Madison, she has put a crimp in the records of some of the old time fishermen of the north country by hooking up one of the speckled beauties which is reported by an official weigher as tipping the scales at 16 pounds. This entitles the lady knight of the key to the blue ribbon and the fellows with their stories of big catches, better look to their laurels.

The Boston & Maine dining cars in the shops at Concord for repairs are being equipped for electric lighting. It is probable that the men at the Boston & Maine shops at Concord will be given the usual Saturday half holiday during the months of July and August.

Eleven passenger trains will be added on June 16 to the Old Orchard branch of the Boston & Maine.

Sufficient signatures have been secured to referendum on the petition in Missouri to suspend operation of the new bill passed by the state legislature.

Railroad men in close touch with the situation in Missouri think at next election which will occur in October 1914, there will be no difficulty in revoking the law.

NEW HAVEN BREAK IN FEAR OF BRANDEIS

Sharp Decline Said to Have Been Due to Rumor He Was to Handle Government Dissolution Suit.

New Haven, June 12.—It was said on State street, this afternoon, that today's sharp decline in New Haven stock to 80 1-2 was due to the rumor from Washington that President Wilson had appointed or would shortly appoint, Louis D. Brandeis special government prosecutor in an action to dissolve the New Haven corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law.

OBSEQUES

Mrs. Melissa A. Mace

The funeral of Mrs. Melissa A. Mace was held from the Christian church at five on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. J. B. Fenwick officiating. Mrs. Everett Strayer and Mrs. Joseph Strayer sang "Abide With Me" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." The bearers were: Samuel Marden, Horace Locke, Maurice Garland, George H. Brown. Interment was in the Central cemetery under the direction of Undertaker H. W. Nickerson.

FREE WOOL AND SUGAR SUSTAINED BY COMMITTEE

Washington, June 12.—Free raw wool immediately and free sugar for three years, as endorsed by President Wilson and adopted by the House, were approved today by the majority members of the Senate Finance Committee. The action sustaining the administration on both schedules was taken after amendments to alter them had been voted down.

Senator Penrose, ranking Republican member of the Finance Committee is to lead the opposition on the floor after the bill is reported. The measure probably will not reach the Senate until June 30. Senator Smith of Michigan is preparing to lead the fight against the sugar schedule and Senator Smoot will command the anti free wool debate.

Senator La Follette, who has amendments which would amount practically in a new bill, plans to make a speech that will extend over a week. Others who are preparing long arguments include Senators Borah, Cummings, Weeks, Lodge, Root, Burton, McChesney and Gallinger. The minority members of the Finance Committee already are at work on their report.

Majority members of the Finance Committee continued today their consideration of subcommittee changes in the Underwood bill resuming discussion of the metal schedule. It was reported today that the subcommittee, in addition to putting pig iron and ferro manganese on the free list, had also transferred steel ingots and billets to the free list, because the House had put steel rails in the undutiable class.

TIRED OF LIFE COMMITS SUICIDE

Zurich, Switzerland, June 12.—Eugene Maggi and his wife, believed to be the wealthiest persons in Switzerland, committed suicide today, their act being actuated by sheer lack of interest in life.

Eugene Maggi was only 41 years old and his wife 35, and the joint estates of the man and wife are estimated at $10,000,000, while quite recently Maggi inherited the income from a number of extensive factories.

The couple had been greatly disappointed because their marriage was without issue, and last night, in a fit of despondency, they decided to end their lives. They retired to their bedroom in their villa here, turned on the gas and were found dead in the morning.

COUNTRY CLUB LADIES' SOCIAL

There was a largely attended Ladies' day and social at the Country Club on Thursday evening and it was a most enjoyable affair.

In the afternoon there was bridge whist played at the club house. At six o'clock basket lunch was served. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight for which Mrs. Fred H. Marden furnished excellent music.

The hostesses were Mrs. Ray C. Foye and Mrs. B. F. Staples.

That Spelling Bee.

The Washington correspondents have lived up to the cherished traditions of their profession by losing the great spelling bee contest with the senators and congressmen, reporters being such notoriously weak disciples of Noah Webster that if it were not for the printers and proofreaders the average newspaper would look like the correspondence of a committee of indignant New York school teachers, whereas statesmen, as is well known, are generally recruited from the chair of English of the country academy or the small town college. Then, too, the solons who participated in this momentous match, being older men than the scribes, are products of an era in our history when the spelling bee was a real and valuable institution which flourished prior to the paper cutting and bead-work courses in our public schools, of which the younger generation are the victims.—Boston Transcript.

Bind a Man Hand and Foot.

Debt rolls a man over and over, binding hand and foot, letting him hang upon the fatal mesh, until the long legged interest devours him. There is but one thing upon the farm like it and that is the Canadian thistle which swarms new plants every time you break its roots, whose blossoms are prolific, and every flower the father of a million seeds; every leaf is an awl, every branch a spear, and every plant a platoon of bayonets, and a field of them like an armed host. The whole plant is a tormented vegetable curse, and yet the farmer had better make his bed of Canadian thistles than attempt to be at ease on interest.

Globe Man Is Slightly Twisted.

The Boston Globe thinks it worthy of note that a "small white whale has been frolicking in the Merrimac river, lately, near Portsmouth." The Globe paragrapher should have learned after his many years of referring to the Portsmouth navy yard as the Kittery navy yard, that Portsmouth is situated on the Piscataqua river, not the Merrimac river. For his further information we will say that Portsmouth has one of the best harbors on the Atlantic coast, accessible at all seasons of the year and all tides for vessels of deep draft.

Timely Advice.

Boating and other summer sports are already getting in their deadly work. What should always be a most delightful and healthful pastime is often made one of dread because of carelessness and foolhardiness. It seems to be particularly true of boating where changing seats and rocking boats are responsible for so many fatal accidents and consequent sorrows. A man guilty of the criminal practice of rocking a boat deserves the severest kind of punishment.

Men Will Have to Be Careful.

When the women take over the county offices the cuspids will go out of the courthouses. With a woman judge on the bench the lawyers will have to quit smoking. And with women councilmen we may expect ordinances making it a misdemeanor to wear a dirty shirt or come down town unshaven. There is considerable to this woman suffrage question beyond what appears on the surface.

Annapolis Commencement.

The midshipment at Annapolis rather have it on the youths of the other colleges when it comes to providing spectacular accessories for commencement exercises. Not even Princeton, with its Carnegie lake, could compete with the fleet of fourteen battleships which drew up in Annapolis roads as the Naval Academy exercises reached their culmination.—Springfield Republican.

The Fan Trust.

They are talking about a congressional investigation of the baseball trust under the Sherman law, but it is far more agreeable, inspiring, uplifting, to consider another trust that defies all laws, all scores, all percentages. We refer to the fan trust. This is a combine for the establishment, maintenance and restoration of confidence such as was never before known.—Chicago Record-Herald.

It Should Be Innocent Sport.

Let the school boys kick up their heels and have oceans of sport, now that vacation is here. Now is their time for sport. However, parents should see that it is innocent sport, and there are hours enough when there is light. The gatherings about the streets after night are not calculated to improve their morals and such liberties should not be permitted.

and rooted hard bringing with them the class mascot, "Jumbo." In the spring of sophomore year, it is worth mentioning that the boys of 1913 had a rush with the boys of 1912. The fact that a banner of our class had been floated from a tree adjoining the school, by one of our loyal members aroused the 1912 boys to such an extent that they were forced to climb the tree and haul it down. However, in doing such, several of them received cuts, bruises and torn clothing. Familiar sayings which have been handed down from the sophomore year are, "What's this?" and also, "What's your trouble." Time passed swiftly by until it became necessary to elect our officers for the junior year. In that remarkable election, which was featured by more or less "stuffing the ballot" Raymond "Joker" Fulman was chosen president, Frances Shillaber, vice president, John Doyleton secretary, Ellsworth Thayer treasurer. At the graduation exercises of the class of 1911, Ellsworth Thayer nobly walked to the front of the stage and received the Thayer medal for general excellence for two years. Marion Craig and Hendrick Mead received honorable mention.

Junior year found the majority of the 1913 class, situated in Room 3, before we found that Miss Matthews had been superseded by a new teacher. At the beginning of the year, the class attended Miss Matthews' wedding in a body. The class presented to their former teacher a silver holly and also their best wishes. A letter of thanks was received from the bride. In basket ball the 1913 team attained fair success and at the end of the season, we were tied with 1914. Again, Philip Anderson was captain, and this year Ellsworth Thayer acted as manager. At the conclusion of the season the team got together with some of the girls and was given an enjoyable social evening at the home of Frances Shillaber, from April until June, they passed uneventfully. In June a stormy election was held, and finally those officers who have served as well this year were elected: Norman Rand president, Marion Craig vice president, Hendrick Mead secretary, Fred Proctor treasurer. As is the custom at the conclusion of the junior year, we decorated for the commencement exercises of the class of 1912. Towards the end of our junior year, two members of the class of 1912, Messrs. Wendell and Newton, joined the delegation to welcome a former teacher at the station. The consequences of the expedition are well known.

Now we come to senior year, the red letter year of a high school student, who completes his course. In the fall of the year, eight seniors, five boys and three girls, presented the country "The Private Tutor," for the benefit of the athletic association. Under the efficient management of Miss Heene and Miss Kearney, the entertainment was a success in every sense of the word, one hundred and thirty one dollars being the realization. In January, the senior banquet was held with the Brown and gold and monochrome clubs as an attraction. This enriched our treasury to the extent of over five hundred dollars. The senior basketball team under James Quirk as captain and Ellsworth Thayer as manager was not as successful as in other years. However, the juniors were forced to play as they never did before and though victorious did not have any needed advantage at the season's end. During spring vacation, thirteen of the class, together with Mr. and Mrs. Thibbs, as chaperones and four people not members of the school went on a trip to Washington. This trip lasted eight days and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all who participated. It was regretted that more did not take the trip.

One thing must be added that the number of 1913 boys, who made school teams. Ten boys made teams and received a total of sixteen letters. In concluding, it is fitting to mention the school, which we received through the hands of ex-president Fulman from the class of 1912. The custom of transferring has been observed from year to year, and will undoubtedly continue to be observed in the future.

This long account of events which have occurred during a period of four years, completes, to the best of my knowledge, the history of our class as it would appear to a high school observer. It by no means reveals to the public eye the many personal and delightful experiences which we have cherished as classmates. Whatever shall happen, in the future in unknown to us; but the recollections of our profitable and friendly connections with the Faculty and the classmates of the Portsmouth High School will always remain in our memory.

CLASS PROPHECY OF 1913.

By Harold B. Wendell.

In the course of ten or twenty years a young man or woman goes through a transformation. In the proper kind of youth succeeds leads to greater success and a future means but a stronger determination to succeed. It is of such

CURRENT OPINION

WHAT OUR RAILROADS DO.

It seems very simple to see the passenger trains run in and out of the station; to order the freight car and send the grain to market; to telegraph to the nearest large town for supplies, and in 24 or 48 hours have them delivered. But it is not so easy and simple as it seems, and there is danger today that the next great uplift in business in the United States will find the railroads, as a whole, sorely taxed to furnish the transportation needed for the commerce of the country. Why? Because a misdirected public opinion is demanding rates too low, taxes too high, wages too high, service too elaborate, and there are not cents enough in the dollar to meet all these obligations and still permit the business to be attractive enough so the man with the dollar will invest it. Our American railroads have done good work and can do better, and it is to the farmer's selfish interest to see that they are so treated that they will be ready at all times to handle business. To be ready requires constant expenditure.

American railroads are capitalized at $60,000 per mile. British railroads at $275,000 per mile, French railroads at $141,000 per mile, German railroads at $112,000 per mile, and Austrian railroads at $115,000 per mile. The average pay of American railway employees is $668 per year, of British railway employees $251 per year, of French railway employees $260 per year, of German railway employees $382 per year and of Austrian railway employees $260 per year. The average charge for hauling a ton of freight 100 miles is in the United States 75 cents, in England $2.80, in France $2.20, in Germany $1.64, in Austria $2.30.—Howard Elliott, President of the Northern Pacific Railway, in Leslie's.

mettle that we hope the class of 1913 is composed.

Once in the warm, burning month of August I sat on the top of a gentle slope overlooking a small New England village. I sat drowsing and speculating as to the future of my classmates. Gradually my drowsiness floated into a deep, dreamy sleep.

I was walking up Congress street, when I met Miss Harriet Sullivan and Miss Florence Shuttlesworth. "Good morning," I greeted them. "What brings you out so early?" "Miss Shuttlesworth," Miss Sullivan said, "is the organizer and head of the 'Producer to Home League,' which we must thank for the extremely low prices in Portsmouth, and I am president of the 'Anti-Tribe Society,' which, as you may see, has made the streets of our city as clean as a parlor floor, so as you must know, we have to get about our civic duties bright and early before the city gets astir."

It was now half-past eight, and I decided to visit the High school that I once attended. As I walked into the Latin department, I saw Miss Frances Bates supervising the education of a class of forty in the tennis and modes of a Latin verb. This was the mental side. Going on a little further I came upon a large, light and new gymnasium and saw Miss Helen Doyleton instructing her pupils in the art of Indian clubs. This was the physical side.

As it was now nine o'clock, I decided to go to Boston. Just as the train pulled out of the station I stood on the rear platform, and saw Mr. Philip Barclay Sanderson, now a famous baseball critic and sporting editor of a daily Boston paper, running as fast as possible to catch the rapidly departing train. In his senior year at school (Hadley) had secured a reputation for arriving in Boston four just one tick before the final bell. This time he had arrived just one tick late.

Going inside, after waving a fond farewell to him, I sat down beside a good complexioned man, who was evidently in the middle of this path of prosperity. He greeted me in a calm, untroubled manner, and I found myself to be sitting beside Mr. Ellsworth Thayer, who after finishing a successful college course at Amherst and later at a law school, had entered the bar and was now a lawyer of high repute and a defender of the much abused corporations, drawing as he told me, in a rather apologetic tone, about two hundred thousand dollars a year. "Don't" spoke very touchingly of his loss in an affair of the heart which he had with a young lady prominent in the Delta Club. Mr. Thayer had been a very particular friend of Mr. Phillips Tucker, and, of course, I thought he could tell me of his whereabouts and so he could. I once had followed in his father's steps, for he is mayor of Portsmouth, and his wife is the society leader of the dear old city by the sea. I did not need to inquire who his wife was.

On the front page of my newspaper big, bold headlines told me the life of Mr. Victor Doss, who had just accomplished his trans-Atlantic aeroplane flight. The paper accounted for his skill in driving his one hundred horse power machine to the fact that in his boyhood days he had driven an automobile of high power "but," it added, "as far as we can find, Mr. Doss never had a universal reputation for speed." Another column was full of vivid and pellucid descriptions of the life of Miss Josephine Tregerlin, now a famous artist. Opening the paper I was attracted by some up-to-date cartoons and in the corner of each picture were the initials, "H. T. N." Byron Newton was a second "Bud" Fisher, a real cartoonist. Then I recalled the pictures "By" used to draw in school. On the last page was the advertisement of the Gorman department store. Mr. Gorman had outdone Jordan Marsh and R. H. White in the extent of his wares, and the two biggest bargains for the day were a small number, and probably a number of small, choice buildings lots for summer homes in the wilds of Sagamore Creek. The other bargain was tailor made suits, only fifty dollars.

Upon arriving in Boston I took the train for Fall River, where I embarked on the steamer "Commonwealth" for New York. On approaching the metropolis I noticed a new bridge stretching across the river, a massive network of steel and iron, a masterpiece of constructive ingenuity. Mr. Harlan Bryant had personally supervised the building of this, the world's latest engineering marvel.

I was met at the pier by Mr. Raymond Fulman, who whisked me in his automobile to the New York office of the Granite State Fire Insurance Co. "Jokey" was manager and had control of all policies in New York City, and the suburbs. As I entered the office I took a hurried look to my left and there was Miss Dorothy Lear and Miss Gertrude Hilde playing their typewriter at a record speed.

I lunched at a restaurant known as "Canned Foods Kitchen," controlled by Miss Bernice Frye and Miss Aylene McNabb. Miss Mary Crowley, who was head waitress, told me that she had done her best to persuade the waiters and check boys to accept the tips that the patrons tried to force on them, but was unsuccessful; for they said that they feared it would make their consciences bother them. All food was guaranteed to have been four years in a cold storage plant or contained 50 per cent. benzene of soda.

Sitting at a quiet corner table, I espied Mr. Fred Proctor and Mr. Ira Shuttlesworth. Mr. Shuttlesworth had obtained his wealth by growing tobacco and making tobacco products. He was trying to persuade Fred to produce an ashless and smokeless tobacco, so that he could sell his patrons a smokeless smoke. Mr. Proctor was an expert chemist.

After having lunched, I made my way slowly to a large crowd on Fifth avenue, which had gathered to see some sort of a parade. I stopped and had a fine view as it crept up the avenue. What to my surprise, I may even say consternation, to see Miss Corinne Parsons riding a horse at the head of thousands of suffragettes, "The Joan of Arc" of her cause. In the ranks I saw Miss Marion Craig and Miss Eleanor Mitchell, each carrying a banner, on which was inscribed "Votes for Women."

The parade over, I walked up Broadway toward one of the greatest social settlements of the world. On the way something amusing caught my eye. In the very midst of this kaleidoscope of theatres and lights, I saw one play house which advertised Miss Beatrice Oldfield as its leading lady. Upon arriving at the social settlement, I was greeted and escorted over the establishment by its sole director, Mr. Oscar Anderson, who had developed it and managed it alone. Oscar told me that a week ago he met Miss Margaret Pickering and Miss Mabel de Rochement on Fifth avenue. They were on their vacation. Miss Pickering was head bookkeeper at the Gale shoe shop in Portsmouth and Miss de Rochement was one of her assistants.

The New York baseball grounds were not far away, so I soon found myself watching Mr. Philip Bennett's baseball champions in the closest game of the season. There, on the winning team, making impossible and inconceivable catches, and finally with a terrible swing at the ball bringing in the necessary run, was the big "little" man of the field, the Napoleon of the Diamond, Mr. James Jones. After the game I shook hands with "Soupy" and he told me that a short time ago he received an invitation to Mr. Sidney Frink's wedding. I need not say who the bride was, but incidentally I will say that at school she sat in the front seat of the second row in Room Four. "Phil," so James told me, had a chance to appear in grand opera but "Stubby" preferred the social life. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Harlan Cooledge of Boston, a classmate of Mr. Frink.

After coming out of the grounds, I met Mr. Norman Rand, who said he was treasurer of one of the large New York banks. Norman told me that John Long was the proprietor of a hotel in Jersey City and made a specialty of serving chocolate pies, the kind he used to eat at school recesses.

At supper time the papers were full of descriptions of the latest battle in the war which our country was carrying on. They told of destructive work on the submarines and airships, of the four unsuccessful attacks of our Japs, fantly to gain a point of vantage and how finally General George Rumrill struck a supreme and decisive blow which would probably end the struggle. In the society news I read how Miss Eleanor Gregory and her sister, Miss Esther Gregory gave a large and elaborate luncheon to her friends in Washington, D. C. Evidently they had joined the Four Hundred in the capital city.

As I walked down Broadway again a brilliant electric sign attracted my attention. It said "Quirks." The name looked familiar so I crossed over to where it was. I found myself standing in front of a large up-to-date drug store and behind the counter stood Mr. James Quirk, the proprietor. I went in and "Bart" showed me all over his store with great pride and set me up to a chocolate delipson, the drink that made him famous. Jim told me, much to my surprise, that Ethel Spaulding and Dorothy Kelly were trained nurses in one of New York's large hospitals.

At Carnegie hall this evening a pianist was to give her farewell appearance, so I went there for I wouldn't lose an opportunity to hear this great musician. As her long, supple fingers moved over the keys in a symphony, then burst into a ragtime ballad, she held us spellbound, enraptured. I marvelled at her deftness and sensitiveness of touch; and when she had finished with full splendor one of her own masterpieces I burst into applause, proclaiming Miss Rebecca Trueman a second Mozart. After the concert I shook hands with Rebecca and she told me that her star pupil was Miss Lucy Marden. "Miss Marden," Rebecca said, "will be one of the foremost pianists in the country soon."

After the concert I strolled down Broadway once more, and I noticed a large billboard sign which advertised the coming of the most beautiful and most popular actress on the stage, Miss Dorothy Bennett. "Dot" had accomplished her ambition, which was to be a "star."

I bought a paper from a ragged newsboy, as I walked along and on looking on the sporting page I read how Mr. Austin Trueman had defeated Paul Poesler in a twenty-string howling match and that now he (Austin) was the champion candle-pin bowler of New England. Austin always claimed he was a good bowler but was just beginning to prove it now.

It was rather late so I thought I would go to my hotel. I took a car and soon arrived there. As I went up to the desk to get my key, my eyes fell on the register and there I read the name, Miss Margaret Ballard. I sent my card up to her room and she soon appeared. I had a long chat with Miss Ballard, who told me that Miss Nina Trueman and Miss Helen Bartlett were school teachers over in Brooklyn. Nina went to Germany, where she studied German and on her return began to teach the language. While Helen, after taking a course at a normal school, took up the profession of teaching. Miss Ballard said that she was on a trip to New York just for fun, and since leaving high school had taken things easy. I congratulated her on being able to do that and told her I hoped to see the day when I could do the same. I asked Margaret if she knew of the whereabouts of Miss Beatrice Oldfield, and she said that while in Philadelphia last week she met her on the street and that she held a government position in the mint. I next inquired for Miss Margaret Quinn and Miss Agnes Hurley. Miss Ballard told me that Miss Quinn was a stenographer in a lawyer's office in Portsmouth, and Miss Hurley conducted a manicure parlor on Sinto street. After bidding her a fond good-night I retired to my room.

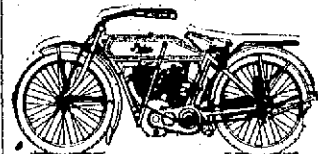

By this time I had dreamed of all but one of my classmates. What had become of him? Had he passed into oblivion? Had he failed, or was he, by fatal mischance the black sheep of our fold? No, none of these. Suddenly the

RYE NEWS

On Thursday afternoon occurred the funeral services of Mrs. Horace Mace (nee Miss Melissa Garland), who was formerly a resident of this town. The funeral rites were performed by Rev. J. B. Fenwick, pastor of the Christian church, and the services were held in this church and were private.

Mrs. J. B. Fenwick entertained the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society at the parsonage on Wednesday afternoon. This meeting concluded the work for the current year and was largely attended and very much enjoyed by all. Selected readings furnished the entertainment. Delightful refreshments consisting of sandwiches, strawberries and cream, sherbert, cakes and hot chocolate were served by the hostess. Everyone at their leave-taking expressed their thanks to Mrs. Fenwick, who had so charmingly entertained the members during the past year, and the members are eagerly awaiting their round of pleasures in store for them next season.

TENDERED BANQUET.

Friends of Judge John Kivel Enjoy Feast at Dover Point.

The Gridiron club of Dover, composed of prominent professional and business men, gave a banquet Thursday evening at Hilton Hall, Dover Point, in honor of Judge John Kivel, for many years a leading attorney of the state, who was recently appointed by Governor Feltner as judge on the superior court bench.

Members of the club and a few invited guests motored to Hilton Hall soon after the supper hour, and found an elaborate spread in waiting, which had been prepared by Landlord Frank Harrigan.

Following a brief reception to Judge Kivel, the members of the club and guests to the number of nearly fifty gathered around the festive board, and after doing justice to the spread an hour or more was devoted to speech-making.

Those present included A. G. Whittemore, Col. T. H. Dearborn, Judge Robert G. Pike, Judge George S. Frost, Judge William F. Naon, Ex-Counselor A. Melvin Post, George D. Barrett,

John H. Nealley, Former Senator Frank B. Clark, Col. Charles C. Goss, Thomas B. Varney, George B. Wright, Charles S. Carland, Dr. Alah B. Sullivan of Dover, William E. Marvin and John W. Kelley of this city.

where the lights, the gardens of Madison Square Garden burnt upon me. It was midnight. On the platform in the center stood the last and most powerful of a number of speakers. It was the professor of economics in our largest university, making a plea, as the candidate for Presidency, of "The Needs of Social and Political Reform." It was Prof. Ray Macdonald, the choice of the people.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Of the Class of 1913 by Helen M. Bartlett and Josephine H. Treacartin.

We, the members of the class of 1913, of the Portsmouth High School, of the City of Portsmouth, of the County of Rockingham, in the State of New Hampshire, being of sound mind and memory, do make, publish, and declare this our last will and testament in the manner following, that is to say:

First, do we solemnly bequeath to the class of 1914 the honor of being seniors.

Norman Rand, our efficient president, bequeaths his punctuality to Clayton Mudgett. Norman thinks that it is better to be an hour too early than one minute too late, even if one does have to run all the way from one's house to school, wherever one is going.

Catharine Parsons leaves to Fred Little her fondness for making black-boards in chemistry period, and hopes that will find the memory as delightful as she has in days past.

Helen Baylison leaves to Muriel Hatchford that convenient and useful little couch of hers. This really is a valuable gift, Muriel, though it may not appear so to you now, for when we will whisper to— it helps to fill in wonderfully, when reciting a lesson, which one does not know any too well.

Philip Bennett regrettably leaves to Arthur Chapp his frequent visits to Texas. The railroad fare is not so much as you might imagine it to be, Arthur, for in this instance the distance from Portsmouth to Texas is considerably shortened.

If there should happen to be a minister's son in the class of 1914, to Madeline Paul, does Mary Crowley gladly bequeath the task of doing his Latin for him.

Margaret Ballard leaves to Dorothy Atwood that hopeless and despairing expression which she has worn during the history period.

Marion Craig generously bequeaths to Wilfred Hewitt just one of those curling little curls which cluster at the back of her neck. Marion can spare only one, Wilfred, but take good care of that, because it is precious.

To Fred Griffin, Oscar Anderson leaves the privilege of watching the clock during the history period. If you should happen to get called on, Fred, make a brave try. Oscar always did.

Victor Burr leaves to any Junior boy who may take the 1914 Washington trip, possibly Warren Hayford, his valuable and much missed hat, which was last seen floating early down the Potomac River.

Frances Stillaber, commonly known as "Cute", leaves to Martha Newton the art of blushing. Cute can do this for forty minutes at a time—at least for the sixth period last forty minutes.

Harriet Sullivan leaves her frivolous and comical ways to Ida Levine. We feel sure that it will be no trouble for Ida to take care of these gifts.

James Quick rather willingly leaves his rights to a walk from Rye to Portsmouth in the wee sun' hours to whoever is unfortunate enough to miss the last car back, perhaps to Earl Bruce. The Shuttleworth comes on to William Crowley his angelic behavior, indecible at all times. If the aggressor accepts this gift, he will be a joy to all the teachers, but he will miss a lot of fun.

Rebecca Trueman feels it her duty to bequeath to Florence Mercer her smile that won't come off. Be careful where you use it, Florence. It may cost you an extra one o'clock session.

James Jones and Byron Newton leave their grave dignity, and general good deportment to Louis Dreiler. We have an idea that Louis can make good use of both of these gifts.

Frances Bates leaves to Helen Davis canned "ham," which she has carefully laid on a certain shelf. In addition to this, Helen, she leaves this warning: That is you should ever wish to add canned goods to the shelf, you must be very careful of the brackets, for they are weak.

Nina Trueman bequeaths to Teresa Brook her ability to diligently study, and to resist the temptation of listening to a dramatic presentation of "Julius Caesar," given by the freshman class during the first period.

Gertrude Little leaves to Alberta Adams her careless and indifferent attitude towards all those troublesome duties with which we have all been beset, during the last four years.

We know that Edmund Pope will be glad to receive Harlan Colledge's bold and dashing style of recitation. In English class and we can imagine that Harlan will be happy to get rid of it.

Harold Wendell leaves his tongue to any member of the Junior class who is able to play "Heeeyohdy" being it as well as Harold can.

Dorothy Bennett leaves to Bertha Chapman a key, guaranteed to lock, but not unlock, a certain door in a certain hotel in Washington.

George Hunnill solemnly bequeaths to Arthur De Courcy a certain valuable book entitled "Successful Elation and How to Conduct Them." From personal experience, George can testify as to the true worth of this book.

Berlice Frye and Michel de Rochemont leave to Annie Anderson their chemistry lockers, with the warning to replace what she breaks in experiments.

To Edith Rand does Eleanor Gregory bequeath her great love for birds, especially the "Martin." The best of the species is to be found in New Jersey, so Eleanor tells us.

Eleanor Gregory willingly leaves to Kate Green the task of keeping a fly close under the straight and narrow path. This is not an easy thing to do, but have patience; Esther always did.

As during our four years the school library has been opened during the whole morning, and over 800 books have been added, Agnes Hurley and Margaret Upham sadly, solemnly and regretfully leave the privilege of going there to Anna Crowley and Frances Leary.

Phillips Dodge leaves to James Fullam his inextinguishable knowledge of history which he has imparted, little by little, during the sixth period of the past year to all his ignorant, wondering ones.

Fred Procter leaves to Harold Littlefield his great thirst for knowledge of a certain subject, which, for the past year, has burst forth in a volley of questions directed at the teacher, and wholly unheard of, or even thought of, by any other member of the class.

Dorothy Kelley reluctantly leaves to Alice Griffin her admiration for a certain wedding song, sung by Harry Lander.

Berlice Meade and Dorothy Leary bequeath to Helen Day and Constance Leary, that high distinction of being the angels of their class.

Larry Marden has reserved for Sarah McWilliams that particular spot in her desk in which, during the rainy season, she has been in the habit of storing her rubbers from the latter part of recess until one o'clock.

Ardene McNabb and Ethel Spaulding leaves their shyness when and when called upon to make a brilliant reputation in chemistry, to Mary Quirk, and Teresa Paul.

Although Roy Macdonald is rather shy when it comes to leaving his most precious possessions, we have, with much urging, at last persuaded him to leave one, his penmanship. As far as we know, Joseph Harvey is the favored one.

Harlan Bryant and Austin Trueman leave to Nelson Formid their immature style of hair-dressing. This is a new style, by which is shown the "unshaved effect."

Eleanor Mitchell leaves the duty of waiting for a friend outside Room 3, on her way up to chapel every Tuesday and Thursday morning to any Junior girl brave enough to withstand the storm that is sure to follow should she get caught.

With much sorrow Sidney Fink leaves his patient noon-time waiter to Francis Crowley. Should you find an amiable companion as Sidney did, you will be there every noon, Francis.

Berlice Littlefield leaves her larkish ball voice to Viola Merrill. Take care, Viola; this is to be used only at basket ball games. It would be a crime to speak above a whisper at any other time.

Joker Fullam leaves his musical disposition to Simon Katz. If Simon has a good singing voice this gift will add him greatly in ascending the stairs at the beginning of the fourth period.

With tears and sighs ("Margaret Pickering bequeaths her outline of "Turkey's Constitution," especially those parts dealing with the Chester and Durham cases, to Jane Newton. We know Jane will appreciate this appropriate gift.

Arthur Gramma leaves to Shirley Shapson his evident good nature. Arthur has always believed in casting rays of sunshine wherever he has gone, and hopes that Shirley will prove worthy of this trust.

Although it cost him a pang of regret, John Long has finally consented to leave his position as flower girl near the door of Room 12, at the end of the second period, in Sherburne Wendell. For details, see John.

Philip Sanderson forevermore bequeaths his undying perseverance in affairs of the heart to Edward Owen, and his unlimited knowledge of famous love stories in English literature to Donald Weston.

"Yes, Ma'am, Cottolene—" (Mrs. Brown is A Sensible Woman)

Cheaper
Than ButterBetter
Than Lard

When you order Cottolene you are ordering the best cooking fat on the market—butter, lard or cotton-oil imitations of Cottolene included.

Cottolene was the first successful cotton-oil shortening. It has "made good" for over 20 years, and is still the best.

The source of Cottolene is pure; it is made in a cleanly, wholesome manner; it makes food that is rich but does not disturb the digestion.

Cottolene

is packed in patent, air-tight, tin pails. It is always pure and sweet, and protected from dirt, dust and store odors

Cottolene is always uniform. Use it right and you will always have the same results—the best.

Cottolene is far superior to lard, because lard is made from hog fat, and cannot compare with Cottolene in wholesomeness and purity. Lard is an animal product; Cottolene is vegetable.

Cottolene is even better than butter for shortening and frying, and costs no more than lard.

Cottolene is richer than butter or lard; therefore, you should use one-third less.

POPE SEES MOVING PICTURES

Rome, June 12.—A moving picture machine was set up in the Consistorial Hall at the Vatican, yesterday, and Pope Pius X, surrounded by his sisters and nieces and Vatican dignitaries, enjoyed a view of many interesting scenes. He watched the passing show with admiration, and at the end called attention to the progress of science which permitted the unfolding of the wonders of the world before even a prisoner like himself.

SUFFRAGETTES

MAKE BIG GAINS IN ILLINOIS

Springfield, Ill., June 12.—President Wilson, former President Taft and Roosevelt, and the governor of each state where equal suffrage prevails, have been invited by telegraph to be present at a woman's jubilee, to be held here Friday night to celebrate the passage of the bill, yesterday, granting limited suffrage to the women of Illinois.

The women are going ahead with their plans for further enfranchisement. It was announced today. A constitutional convention is one of these, and a number of schools of instruction is another.

The bill adopted yesterday gives a large measure of suffrage to women as the state constitution permits, but without amendment of the constitution, while women may vote for presidential electors, mayors and aldermen and on all propositions submitted to the people, they cannot vote for governor or other state officers, created by the state constitution.

It will be necessary to provide separate ballot boxes for the women and a readjustment of present election machinery must be made.

AMERICA IS REPRESENTED

Important Gathering of Women Being Held in Vienna

Vienna, June 12.—The greatest international gathering of women Vienna has ever known left here today after three days of meetings and conferences for Budapest, where the convention of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance opens on Sunday, June 15 and continues through the 20th. During the three days that the delegates and visitors were guests of the American Woman Suffrage Association, American women played an important part in planning the preliminary of the great Budapest convention. There were more than one thousand delegates and visitors in the party which left today. Miss Jane Adams, of Chicago and Mrs. Stanley McCormick, delegate from Massachusetts have been the leaders of the American delegation here.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING IN ARCTIC

New York, June 12.—A special to the Sun from Tromsø, Norway, says stories of terrible sufferings are told by the survivors of the German Arctic expedition in Spitzbergen. The friction among the members of the expedition, which existed from the time they set out, continues among the survivors. After the separation and disappearance and disappearance of Dr. Detmers, Mossers, and others

"GETS-IT" Chases Corns Alright!

Easy as One, Two, Three; No Fuss No Pain, by Using "GETS-IT."

Just take two seconds to put a "GETS-IT" on that corn. That corn is "done for" as sure as the sun rises. The corn shrivels up, vanishes. "That's it!"

"We Can Dance All Night and Our Corns Won't Hurt. We Both Use 'GETS-IT'—It Gets Corns Every Time, Dead Sure!"

the surprise you get by using this new-plant corn cure. There's nothing to stick to the stocking or sock; your corn pains stop. You've saved the bother of applying plasters that make the corn bulge out from the shoe. You've saved selves that cut into the healthy flesh and "pull"; no more fussing with bandages. You don't have to help by picking and dragging out your corns, or cutting with knives or razors.

"GETS-IT" is safe, painless, stops pain, never hurts healthy flesh. It is guaranteed. Try it on warts, calluses and bunions, too.

"GETS-IT" is sold at all drug stores at 25 cents a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Portsmouth by Fred B. Coleman.

who had been delayed by the attack of frost bite from which Dr. Ruediger suffered, the latter and Rave stayed in the hut while the others tried to reach Advent Bay to get medical help. Ruediger and Rave remained in the hut for seven weeks without any news of aid coming to them. Their rations dwindled until they had but one meal a day of mildewed oats and salt meat. They then determined to try to reach the ship. This they after incredible suffering.

Meanwhile Captain Ritscher and party, who had left Ruediger and Rave in the hut, met furious blizzards and were delayed for many weeks until three of them decided to return to the ship. Captain Ritscher and a dog struggled on subsisting for a week on a handful of barley daily. After this they were without food until they reached Thorsnesen.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET

"Food by Weight" is New York's innovation of which Massachusetts Housewives are talking—Short weight evil is said to be rampant in New England—Justice, not Chivalry, is Suffragist's slogan—Yet she wants both—Slumless Hub is praised by visiting English women as astronomer—How one hundred thousand stars are being catalogued.

Boston, June 12, 1913.—The New York law that food stuffs must be sold by weight measure, or actual count, is interesting many Boston housewives who have long been cognizant of the short weight evil as it exists in many New England establishments. There was an investigation of dealers' scales in Boston some time ago which showed that some 38 per cent of them were defective, almost invariably to the detriment of the consumer. Some temporary corrections of this situation were made but the New England capital has had no such scheme of regulation as the metropolis is now trying out. An interesting fact brought out by the operation of the law which went into force in Gotham June 1 is that many Boston manufacturers of food products are likely to be barren out of the empire state's chief city unless they mend their ways. It is stated for example that certain Boston cracker makers are sending out packages made up to look larger than others sold at the same price but which really contain two and one-half ounces less of food than they really should. Uplift advertising associations make much of the slogan "Made in New England," such instances suggest one possible line of usefulness in applying moral suasion.

What we want is not chivalry but justice. The remark is attributed to Miss Margaret Foley, speaking at one of the open-air meetings which the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association is holding in various parts of greater Boston. This sure thing is that Miss Foley is of the kind to secure both. In the course of her speaking to all sorts of audiences for several years past no one has more effectively mingled daring and dignity than this eloquent young Irish woman huskily athletic (she was once a swimmer) and thoroughly feminine (as in her treatment of numerous offers of marriage which her work has brought her). Miss Foley is one whom a man may jolly but with whom he may not trifles. In her earnest way she is appealing to men to see to it that the proposed constitutional amendment granting equal suffrage shall go to the people three years from now. This is urged as a simple act of justice.

The slumless Hub has been praised again—this time by an English woman, Evelyn S. Clarkson, who is studying child labor, sweat shops and similar special problems in the United States. She finds that the poorest quarters of Boston are Arcadian compared with the East End of London and that the children of these districts appear to be well clothed, well fed and contented. One rather wonders if she ran upon any of the cases that are occasionally reported through some of the charitable associations—like that of a family of seven, the father too consumptive to work and the total income from the labor of three children less than eight dollars a week. Still, it is probably true as a generalization that the very poor in Boston are better off than the corresponding class in most foreign cities. That accounts for the immigration.

Of all the world's great trusts the star trust, whose headquarters are at the Harvard astronomical observatory is perhaps the most beneficial, and it is one in which women have reason to be particularly interested since so much of its important work is carried on by members of their own sex. That the trust exists seems hardly doubtful, for every now and then some astronomer somewhere raises his voice to say that it is impossible to do anything in astronomy except through the Harvard observatory or one of its affiliates. The actual work done at the observatory at least looks very wonderful to the visitor who sees sharp eyed young women perpetually engaged in examining negatives and recording the results of their observations. They do not have to sit up late nights to discover new stars and comets and things. One man with a photographic outfit can take pictures enough of the heavens on a starry night to keep a score of women observers busy for a long time.

From the photographic records of the sky which cover a period of more than 30 years Miss Annie J. Cannon and her helpers are at work on a great catalogue of 100,000 stars which will supplement the now antiquated Draper catalogue of about 10,000 stars. It will be published about four years hence and will be a monument not only to the profound scholarship of Director Edward C. Pickering but to the patience and thoroughness of his corps of women assistants. Among the stars to be catalogued are many absolutely new ones, of which many have been detected through the Harvard negatives than in any other way.

ETHEL ANGLIER.

WOMEN MAKE FORMAL PROTEST

Rome, June 12.—The National Council of Women today made formal protest to the government for alleged discrimination against Signora Lancalet Croce in a recent government competition for artistic designs for the new mint. The work submitted by Signora Croce was far better than the appointment of head engraver of the mint. Later she was notified that she could not have the place, as the position entailing grave responsibility and discipline, was declared to be too much for a woman to fill. The National Council of Women is confident that the minister of the treasury can be induced to revoke the latest order and give Signora Croce the position. If this is done Signora Croce will have one of the highest official positions under the Italian government occupied by a woman.

TO DO AWAY WITH TIPPING

Denver, Colorado, June 12.—Abolition of the tipping evil through legislation in every state in the Nation was urged here today at the opening sessions of the two days convention of the United Commercial Travelers of America. Nearly two thousand delegates with their families are in attendance. There was no doubt today that the resolution urging an anti-tipping law will pass unanimously. Other matters considered today related to better travelling accommodations and a closer affiliation between the Travelers Association and the Hotel Managers and Owners Association, in the interest of better accommodations at hotels throughout the country.

UNION-PACIFIC MERGER DISRUPTION SCHEME

St. Paul, Minn., June 12.—Attorneys for the Union Pacific presented at the opening of the merger dissolution hearing today a new plan for the disposition of $38,000,000 worth of Southern Pacific stock to the Pennsylvania Railroad in exchange for $21,000,000 worth of Baltimore and Ohio stock.

NEARLY A THOUSAND VETERANS TO MAKE TRIP

When the official registration of the Civil War veterans closed on May 22, and those in charge knew the number who had then assented to the Gettysburg trip, there were 712 names on the rolls, but they were not classified as to towns. After the date of the closing of registration, 200 more names were added, which have appeared on the list in the order of receiving the applications. Withdrawals are being received daily by those in charge of the trip, and at present it is only guesswork to say how many New Hampshire vets will take advantage of the proposed trip to the famous battlefield.

TO SAFEGUARD ENGLISH SUPPLY.

New York, June 12.—A special to the Sun from London says: The American beef trust came up in the House of Commons last evening on a question presented by Mr. Stander, Conservative member for Shropshire. Mr. Stander wanted to know what the Government was doing about the alleged work of the American beef trust in South America in order to safeguard England's meat supply, and whether it knew that five Argentine beef companies had been compelled to close down on account of their losses in competing with the American trust, which had cut prices to a very low point in an effort to control the English market. John McKinnon Robertson, Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade, replied that the Government did not know of the closing down of the five Argentine works, but would welcome steps by the Government of Argentina looking to the protection of the meat supply from that country.

CONFIRMED BY DANIELS

Secretary Mitigates Sentences of Naval Officers

Secretary Daniels today approved the findings of the courtmartial which tried Captain Roy C. Smith, commanding officer, and Lieut. W. W. Smyth, acting navigator, and found them guilty of neglect of duty in connection with the grounding of the battleship Arkansas on Celia Bank south of Cuba, several months ago. The secretary mitigated both sentences, however, so that Captain Smith will lose only ten numbers, in rank instead of twenty as recommended by the board, and Lieut. Smyth will lose five instead of ten.

It was further ordered that Captain Smith be continued in command of the Arkansas and that Lieut. Smyth be released from arrest and restored to duty.

HORSE ON TRACK

Delays the Portsmouth Passenger Train Near Amoskeag Depot.

The Portsmouth and Concord passenger train due here at 6:22 p. m., was delayed on Thursday by a handsome bay horse that got upon the track about a half mile above Amoskeag station. The train had to come to a stop, so persistently did the animal stick to the track; and when the trip was resumed, despite the constant tooting of the whistle, the horse still plodded along toward Manchester directly ahead of the engine, and refused to give the train its right of way until Amoskeag station was reached when it ambled away and left a clear track.

FELL FROM STEPS.

Has Fracture at Base of His Skull.

Charles Rand of Miller avenue, a well known young man sustained an injury on Thursday evening by a fall from the top of the entrance of the Hotel De Witt on Chestnut street. While going up the steps he lost his balance and fell back striking his head heavily on the sidewalk. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and hurried to the Portsmouth Hospital and Dr. H. L. Taylor called. He found that the injured man was suffering from a possible fracture of the base of the skull. Today he is reported as slightly improved.

RIVERMEN COMPLAIN TO COLLECTOR

Claim That Motor Boats Are Overcrowded and Not Properly Equipped.

Rivermen who live along the water front have complained to the police department and to the collector of the port's office against an alleged dangerous condition existing among the motor boats that are let for hire. The basis of the complaint is that the ferries, particularly those which carry the workmen between this city and the navy yard are overcrowded and are not sufficiently supplied with apparatus to save lives in time of accidents. The police department has reported the situation to the government authorities and Collector of the Port, Sherman T. Newton has assured the local officials that he will have the matter investigated.

The river is plentifully supplied with motor boats. Many of the boats owned by men employed at the yard are used during the morning to convey the workmen across the Piscataqua river to the yard and at night to return them to this city. In the complaint made to the police, it is claimed that the power boats which should not carry more than twenty-five passengers are carrying from fifty to sixty men, many of whom cannot swim. It is said that the workmen ride on the cabin houses of the boats and make them top-heavy. In view of the dangerous tides in the river it is said that the most expert swimmers would have little chance if the boats were overcome by accident. Occasionally revenue cutters come in to port and board the powerboats to ascertain if they are equipped with life saving devices. Big fines have been imposed but for the most part they have been returned by the Government. The local fishermen who have complained of the situation say that the government officers have not investigated to ascertain overcrowded conditions of the boats in the morning and at night.

MIDNIGHT FIGHTERS.

Lively Scrap in Which Big Show Window Is Smashed.

While a bunch of colored people were doing the amiable glide about 12 o'clock on Thursday night, two others, Howard Hall and Kid Lee, were mixing it up down below on the sidewalk. The argument originated over dances and as Hall and Lee had no feasible love for each other, they started right in for business. They were chasing for fair when Officer Carlson appeared and made the third to take a hand in the scrap. He pulled his stick and the minute that Lee saw the policeman he wanted the cop to hand it to him that he might hit his friend Howard a few gentle ones on the crown.

The cop thought he would do all the swinging and got next to Howard, who then turned his attention to the officer and delivered a strong kick with a No. 8 brogan.

While the melee was progressing somebody added to the performance by pushing one of the fighters through the big show window of Denmet & Mc-

REMEMBER!

THE COOLEST PLACE IN TOWN

Carthy. When the crash came Hall broke away and beat it.

When the clinch was over Lee declared that Howard hit him on the nose and the marks of his molars was the evidence.

Today Howard is in the shade somewhere and the police are looking for him on a charge of assaulting an officer and being drunk. This ought to be enough to give him a vacation if he reappears later. It will cost just $50 to put the window glass back in place.

LETTER REPLYING TO RECENT COMMUNION PUBLISHED FROM MRS. CONNORS.

Editor Portsmouth Herald:

Dear Sir—Having consulted with my attorney, I would say that Mrs. Ahrens and myself did not know Mary A. Kelley's whereabouts. Her mother is sick and wanted her to come home. For that reason, I inserted the advertisement. The whereabouts of Mary A. Kelley have no interest for me. It was for her mother's good that I sought to learn her whereabouts.

In view of the publicity you have given Mrs. Connors' letter, will you kindly give the same publicity to this letter, and oblige, Yours,

THOMAS A. AHRENS.
